BULGARIANS MAY ATTACK RUMANIA

Surprise Move May Occur at Any Time—Necessary Military Measures for Defense Being Taken.

London, April 6, 1:21 a. m.—A long delayed dispatch from Bucharest field by Reuters' correspondent there on March 21 says that in view of the undisputed military preparations of Bulgaria on the Rumanian frontier the government of Rumania is taking "necessary military measures." Premier Bratiano also has prolonged the parliamentary session until the end of April so as to be ready to deal as quickly as possible with any Bulgarian surprise which, the correspondent says in the opinion of some persons, is by no means out of the question.

The Rumanian press comments strongly on the dispatch of large Bulgarian forces, said to amount to six divisions, for the purpose, the newspapers said, of attacking Dorudja which Rumania acquired from Bulgaria after the second Balkan war. The Rumanian press also dwells on what it considers the hostile sentiment created by Bulgarian newspapers and demands the recall of S. Radow, the Bulgarian minister at Bucharest, who is accused of stirring up trouble in Dobrudja.

GERMAN CONSUL FACING TRIAL

Facts Concerning False Passport Issued to Hort Von der Goltz Under Alias to Come Before Federal Grand Jury.

Washington, April 6.—The government's investigation of the alleged connection of Carl A. Luderitz, German consul at Baltimore, with the issue of an American passport to Hort von der Goltz, a confessed German spy, under the name of Bridgeman Taylor, has reached a point where the next step is to lay the facts before the federal grand jury.

The story told to department of justice agents by von der Goltz at New York is to be made the basis of grand jury action. In his statement von der Goltz is quoted as saying he went to Baltimore with a letter from Captain von Pappen, the former German military attaché here, requesting the consul to aid von der Goltz in any way he could. Von der Goltz has told the agents he presented the letter and discussed with Luderitz plans for ob-

TROOPERS MAKE SOME HARD RIDES

Cavalrymen Proud of Their Horses—Mounts Fit for

CLIMB LIKE GOATS

Cowboy Scout Is Wonder-Rides Thinly Clad and Bare-handed in High Altitudes.

At the Front in Mexico, General Pershing's Camp, April 3, by Aero-plane and Motor Courier to Calumet, N. M., April 6.—A cavalry officer, coming on from an eighty mile ride last night said:

"I never saw a country where men could ride as hard without sleep and still keep well, as in these mountains." This officer has ridden on a scout with the 250 picked cavalrymen.

"It is said to be the air at the altitude of 2500 to 10,000 feet that keeps the men up," he added.

Troopers Make Hard Rides.

The troopers in the course of their 80 mile ride in two days, made a 55 mile ride, literally up and down the tops of a ridge of mountains. The 55 miles was made in 36 hours, through canyons, through heavy snow at 10,000 feet high and up and down mountain sides. There is neither roads nor trail.

After taking their mounts safely through this ride, the cavalrymen made a 25 mile dash across country to head off the possibility of a Villista rally at a place which has been under suspicion for several days. In the mountain work the cavalrymen led their horses over the worst places. The horses have shown that they can climb almost any mountain that a man can ascend.

Cavalrymen Proud of Horses.

Pride in their horses has become a passion with the cavalrymen in their mountain riding. "Our horses," one officer asserted, "are just as good today as when they crossed the border. They are fit for a charge right now. Just let us get on Villa's trail and we will get him sure."

An officer here tells how he retreated from a house where he believed he was about to discover a Villista bandit. It was during the search of a mountain district where there was a suspicion that Villa might be concealed until his wounds healed.

Many houses were under search when this officer saw what he took to be a wounded man lying in bed in a room. He swung open the door, pistol in hand and hurried across the room. The man in bed in the very poor light looked more than ever like a wounded bandit. The officer started to turn down the blanket covering the Mexican but after one look he fled. He had discovered a case of smallpox.

Cowboy Wonder With Troops.

The wonder of cavalrymen "now searching the mountains is an American cowboy scout, who rides with the troopers in these cold altitudes clad in what the soldiers say is only a thin cotton shirt."

"You can read a newspaper through it," is the soldiers' description of the shirt. The cowboy, who rides barehanded, never appeared to mind the cold.

Next Sunday, the picture that has been accredited the finest production that has been made in photoplays to-date, "The Death Lock," greater than "The Spoilers," and it will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Alhambra double program.

This was Mrs. Voorhees' first appearance in a championship tournament and she surprised everybody by her victory.

forced to flee after the briefest visit of the kind yet made.

The night was clear with moonlight and without wind. Searchlights discovered the raider coming over the sea and never once lost him during his stay. As he reached the coast he was flying comparatively low and the smallest guns found him such an easy target that he was forced to rise to a great height. The larger guns then found the range and, aided by the searchlights, they surrounded the Zeppelin with a terrific hail of shrapnel and high explosive shells. After maneuvering near a northeast coast town for about ten minutes during which only a few bombs were dropped, the raider was seen to turn and sail homeward.

THREE HEADLINE ACTS AT PANTAGES TONIGHT

There's an excellent vaudeville bill, for those who like vaudeville, at the Orpheum tonight, Friday and Saturday. Comedy, plenty of laughs, pretty girls with shapely ankles, and songs with dances, are the prominent features as dish out by Mr. Pantages this week. There are three distinct headline feature acts, each a big hit, so you are sure to get your money's worth. The big act, of course, is "The Office Girls," a musical comedy, in which singing and dancing and clever comedy, patter by three good comedians make the act such a hit. The other acts are all top notchers and with the tenth episode of "The Girl and the Game" to close the bill a truly good vaudeville show is promised Orpheum patrons.—Advertisement.

HEAVY ACREAGE IN SUGAR BEETS

Reports of the Amalgamated Sugar company field department that were completed by J. F. Burton, factory manager in Ogden, show that contracts have been signed for 1015 acres in the Ogden district, the largest acreage ever signed in this section. The company anticipates that approximately 100 acres more will be contracted during this week.

Planting of sugar beet seed has been started in various parts of the county, and, with improved weather conditions, is expected to progress rapidly. The prospects for an abundant water supply this year give indications that the yield per acre will be very heavy, the prospective total tonnage increase, grown in this section, being computed as high as 35 per cent.

BIG PICTURE COMING, "THE BONDSMAN"

From Hall Caine's Book, Said to Be the Best Picture of the Year.

One of the most important bookings in motion pictures is announced by Manager Goss of the Orpheum for his patrons next week in the showing of the big William Fox picture "The Bondsman" produced from the famous novel by Hall Caine, and with the $100,000 actor William Farnum in the title role. This big picture surpasses all other productions from the Fox Studio, at first Mr. Fox intended to play it at advanced prices but later decided to show it on the regular program at the usual picture prices. The newspapers in the east have all declared "The Bondsman" to be the most wonderful production witnessed by them of late, and should be seen by everybody who has read the novel. It will play the Orpheum Sunday, Monday and Tuesday night of next week at the usual five and ten cent prices. Advertisement.

CHASED HIM WITH A REDHOT POKER

In the district court, W. Jacobus Van Emmerick has commenced divorce proceedings against Arnelinda Emmerick, on the grounds of cruelty. He claims an interest in certain alleged community property, valued at $10,000, a portion of which he asks to be awarded him. He also wants the court to direct that the defendant pay the costs of suit and furnish such general relief as the court may deem equitable.

The plaintiff alleges that he married the defendant January 23, 1913, and that within three weeks after the marriage Mrs. Emmerick slapped his face and kicked him out of bed. On another occasion, the plaintiff avers, the defendant slapped him because he could not properly mend a pair of shoes, and, when he was ill, in December of the year of the marriage, she whipped him and abused him. The last act of cruelty is alleged to have been in the latter part of 1915, when the defendant attempted to poison him.

On one occasion during their married life, the plaintiff says, the defendant chased him with a redhot poker and threw a bucket of potatoes in his face.

HOW MARK TWAIN MISSED A FORTUNE

An amusing story of Mark Twain's mining days in Nevada is told in the April instalment of Albert Bigelow Paine's "Boys' Life of Mark Twain," which is running serially in St. Nicholas. "The mining was rather hopelessly unprofitable," says Mr. Paine. "The constant and heavy rains were disheartening. Clemens hated it, and even when one afternoon traces of a pocket began to appear, he rebelled as the usual chill downpour set in."

"Jim," he said, "let's go home—we'll freeze—here."

"Gills, as usual, was washing, and Clemens carrying the water. Gills, seeing the gold 'color' improving with every pan, wanted to go on washing, and climbing toward the precious pocket, regardless of wet and cold. Clemens, shivering and disgusted, vowed that each pail of water would be his last. His teeth were chattering and he was wet through. Finally he said:

"Jim, I won't carry any more water. This work is too disagreeable."

"Gills had just taken out a panful of dirt."

"Bring one more pail, Sam," he begged.

"Jim, I won't do it—I'm freezing."

"Just one more pail, Sam!" Jim pleaded.

"No, sir, not a drop—not if I knew there was a million dollars in that pan!"

"Gills tore out a page of his notebook and hastily posted a thirty-day claim notice by the pan of dirt. Then they set out for Angel's Camp, never to return. It kept on raining, and a letter came from Steve Gillis, saying he had settled all the trouble in San Francisco. Clemens decided to return, and the miners left Angel's without visiting their claim again."

"Meantime the rain had washed away the top of the pan of dirt they had left standing on the hillside, exposing a handful of nuggets, pure gold. Two strangers, Austrians, happening along, gathered it up, and, seeing the claim notice posted by Jim Gillis, sat down to wait until it expired. They did not mind the rain—not under the circumstances—and, the moment the thirty days were up, they followed the lead a few paces further and took out some ten, some say twenty, thousand dollars. In either case it was a good pocket that Mark Twain missed by one pail of water."

SCANDINAVIAN MINISTERS MEET TO DISCUSS NEUTRALITY RIGHTS THREATENED BY WAR

This picture was taken on the occasion of a recent meeting at Copenhagen of Scandinavian statesmen, whose purpose was the discussion of the mutual safeguarding of the neutrality of their respective countries. The important figures at the meeting were: Knut A. Wallenberg, Swedish prime minister; Erik Scavenius, Danish minister of foreign affairs; and Knut Hjalmar Hammarhjold, Swedish prime minister. The meeting resulted in a closer bond of union being established between the countries represented.
